

Updated ASCSA policy on individual membership fees and benefits for members of Cooperating Institutions - Policy effective as of October 2013

The fees associated with ASCSA membership (Regular, Student Associate, Senior Associate) will be assessed according to the amount of time an individual spends at the School's facilities. Membership during the academic year (September-May) does not extend into the summer months. If an individual requests a full year of membership (12 consecutive months), the total fee will be for 10 months. This discount is in recognition of the numerous Greek and American holidays and low periods of activity at the School during a full calendar year. In assessing fees for stays shorter than a full month, the School prorates its monthly fees on an incremental basis. Furthermore, the fee scale is related to status (senior vs. student) and institutional affiliation. Different rates apply to students, faculty, and graduates of Cooperating Institutions of the ASCSA than those from non-affiliated institutions.

ASCSA Monthly Fee Scale: Individual Membership

- Senior Associate Members are typically Ph.D. holders.
- Student Associate and Regular Members are graduate students.

Discounted Fees for Senior & Student members affiliated with a Cooperating Institution

- 1-7 continuous days within a four month period: Free
- 8-17 days: One-quarter monthly fee
 - Senior: $82.50; Student: $55.00
- 18-30/31 days: Half monthly fee
 - Senior: $165.00; Student: $110.00

Fees for Senior and Student members not affiliated with a Cooperating Institution

- 1-17 days: Half monthly fee
 - Senior: $165.00; Student: $110.00
- 18-30/31 days: Full monthly fee
 - Senior: $330.00; Student: $220.

Individual Members from Cooperating Institutions enjoy the following benefits:

- The School welcomes any scholar from a Cooperating Institution, regardless of department, whose research is relevant to the mission of the ASCSA and to conducting research in Greece.
 - NB: Every individual must submit an online application via the ASCSA website whenever he or she intends to use the facilities of the School.
- Discount on individual School membership fees (see above) including free use of the School's facilities for one week (an individual membership application, however, is still necessary).
- Assistance from the School in applying for or renewing a Greek residence permit (member must pay required fees for the actual permit).
- Assistance from the School in requesting individual study permits from the Greek Ministry of Culture.
- A free entrance pass for archaeological sites and museums, issued by the Greek Ministry of Culture; the card is valid for three years.
 - For ASCSA members from non-Cooperating Institutions a minimum charge of a half month of fees will be assessed for assistance with a residence permit, study permit, or acquisition of a museum pass.
- 24/7 access to the Blegen Library and a personal carrel within it as well as use of the School's computer lab.
- A School key that grants access to the main grounds and gardens of the School, the main building holding the Blegen Library, and Loring Hall (deposit required).
- Residence in Loring Hall when space permits (subject to room fees).
- Loring Hall services (subject to fees when applicable): meals, tea, ouzo, use of the saloni, etc.
 - NB: The laundry facilities are limited to residents staying in Loring Hall.
- Access to Agora and Corinth facilities and collections.
- Use of a member's lounge, kitchen facility, and a locker (deposit required for the key) in the main School building.
- Use of school grounds (e.g., gardens, tennis court, outside grill).
- Check cashing service offered by the ASCSA business office.
- Rental storage in Loring Hall.